

A Maritime History of Somerset Volume 1: Trade & Commerce

A Maritime History of Somerset Volume 1: Trade & Commerce

This is the first in a series of volumes to be published by the Somerset Archaeological & Natural History Society covering original research into aspects of the maritime history of the ancient county of Somerset.

Somerset has a rich and varied maritime heritage, aspects of which are brought to light in this volume. Many communities depended on the sea for their livelihood, not just for the goods that came and went from their ports, but also for the people who were associated with those transactions. This book contains a wealth of information on the trade and commerce witnessed in Somerset from the sixteenth century onwards, written by a collective of authors based upon original research.

Attractively presented, with numerous illustrations, many of which have not been published before, new maps, tables and graphs, this volume offers a wealth of information on a subject growing in popularity, and will be of interest both to scholars and the general reader.

191 pages, large format, soft back, 83 illustrations, £15.95

Available at the SANHS Online Shop or

Send £15.95 (+ £5.00 P&P unless collected) to:

SANHS, Somerset Heritage Centre, Brunel Way, Norton Fitzwarren TA2 6SF

01823 272429 office@sanhs.org

CONTENTS

Somerset's Sixteenth Century Maritime Trade by Duncan Taylor

Drainage, Navigation and Civil Engineering: Straightening the River Parrett in 1568 by Adrian Webb

Porlock Weir's Quay and Trade Development, 1420-1790 by Philip Ashford

The Coastal Trade of the Somerset Ports in the late Seventeenth and early Eighteenth Centuries by David Hussey

Collins, Mackenzie and the Hydrographic Surveys of the Somerset Coast by Andrew David

Coal Harbour by Mary Siraut

The Development of Watchet Harbour in the 1850s by Ian Coleby

The Effect of the Tide on the Social History of Weston-Super-Mare by Brian Austin